

Post a Comment On: Genuine Morrisseau from KRG

"Questionable works"

8 Comments - Show Original Post

Collapse comments

thickblacklines said...

great set of interviews from Ritchie. I must ask, what happened to "Raven's" blog? was this just some sort of smokescreen? I assumed he was genuine. I do appreciate all those who know and have chosen to speak up on these issues, but I am troubled that the whole issue seems to be getting worse/confusing than ever before.
thanks

October 20, 2008 7:18 AM

principal morrisseau dealer said...

And boy is Ritchie feeling the pressure from the other camp for saying his peace. Raven sent me this statement this morning:

Faced with a potential lawsuit, I had a choice to make about continuing the Blog. As I have no financial interest in the authentication issue either way, it is wise for me to exit given the new levels of nastiness this matter has reached. It appears that public statements by Ritchie Sinclair at morrisseau.com and on the KRG blog have caused this matter to boil over. I wish you all well and thank you for your comments and complimentary emails. Hopefully this matter gets resolved soon because it is killing the native art movement.

Raven

October 20, 2008 10:58 AM

Leave your comment

Neither the author nor Kinsman Robinson Galleries necessarily agree with the comments posted. The editor will not correct spelling or grammar. Kinsman Robinson Galleries reserves the right to edit or delete comments entirely.

You can use some HTML tags, such as , ,

WORD VERIFICATION

Type the characters you see in the picture above.

Choose an identity

Google/Blogger

USERNAME

PASSWORD

No Google Account? Sign up here.
You can also use your Blogger account.

OpenID

PUBLISH YOUR COMMENT

PREVIEW